NOTICES.

The Editor wishes to draw attention to Miss L. Gray's new address. It is 3, St. David's Avenue, Bexhill, Sussex. Those of us who go to the London Students' Meetings will much regret this change, meaning as it does, the loss of Miss Gray as a regular attender.

By the kind invitation of the Hon. Mrs. Franklin, the Annual Meeting of the Ambleside Old Students' Association will be held this year at 50, Porchester Terrace, on June 16th. A notice of the invitation will be found in this number; replies should be sent to Mrs. Franklin as soon as possible.

The next number of L'UMILE PIANTA will appear on July 15th. All communications must reach the Editor by June 25th.

STUDENTS' MEETINGS.

March 6th. 1915.—We felt much more at home at Craven Road this time, and as the "butler" is no longer there, there was not quite so much ceremony, and we walked upstairs and announced ourselves. It was very nice to find both Miss Faunce and Miss Evans there, and they made us feel most welcome. The house is quite straight now, and is charming. We missed many students who used to be regular attenders at the meeting, and we hope that they will make more effort to get to them, so that the numbers may be larger, for "the more the merrier." We were a very merry party yesterday, though not a large one. Those present were Misses Bruce Low, Claxton, Denne, Gray, Kitching, Moore, Phillips, J. R. Smith, and Young.

May 1st, 1915.—The May Students' Meeting proved quite a novel one, for we arrived at Craven Road to find it in the hands of a strange caretaker, who knew nothing about the holding of any meeting, and who seemed a trifle uncertain as to whether she would be doing right to admit us. However, we soon satisfied her on that point, and we waited in the little sitting-room on the ground floor until 4.15—by which time eight of us had assembled—and then we adjourned to Kensington Gardens and had tea out in the open. It was a delightfully mild afternoon—though not very sunny—and we enjoyed the spring feeling that pervaded everything. Tea over we wended our ways to our different buses, and looked forward to meeting again before long.

Those present were: Mrs. Hughes Jones, Mrs. Esslemont, and Misses Bernau, Franklin, Gray, Low, El. Smith, and Young.

There will be the usual Students' Meetings at 27, Craven Road, at 3.30, on Saturday, June 5th, and Saturday, July 3rd.

R.S.V.P.

FAIRFIELD HOUSE.

Miss Mason hopes that students will avail themselves fully of Fairfield House this summer; Miss Inglis will be able to make them comfortable for 10s. a week if several students come. They should write to the House Mistress as soon as possible, and say when they wish to come, and for how long. There will be the possibility of arranging for French lessons with Mdlle. Janssens, Miss Mason's Belgian visitor. The house is only open to students.
